'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

It is amusing the number of brickbats and bouquets that are slung at this column.

* * * *

One kind (?) reader suggested that we go sit on a tack or die or something.

* * * *

Another is high in his praise.

* * * *

Which all goes to show that you can't please all of the people all of the time.

* * * *

Furthermore, we never did say we were good.

* * * *

The mystery of the sinking of the schooner South Coast will probably never be solved.

* * * *

There is something queer about these mysterious sinkings of ships.

* * * *

And they make good reading for the general public.

* * * *

The tale of the sea is filled with stories of mysterious sinkings . . . of the disappearance of ships . . .

* * * *

Sailors will tell you stories of the discovery of a certain sailing ship, with all sails unfurled, with every bit of the ship in first class order, sailing the seven seas, deserted.

* * * *

Every member of the crew had disappeared. But life boats and life rafts were still in place.

* * * *

Then there is the famous case of the U. S. S. Cyclops, a vessel that disappeared as suddenly as if the ocean had opened its mighty jaws and swallowed her.

* * * *

Is it any wonder that the ancient sailors believed that the seas were populated with huge monsters that ate ships and men?

Pop Warner tried out his new C formation yesterday at Stanford.

Pop has the habit of digging plays out of his sleeves, or out of the air someplace.

* * * *

But let's wait and see what our friend Nibs Price has up his well-known sleeve.

* * * *

St. Mary's should be a team this year that will be hard to beat.

* * * *

Some of the Richmond fans are going to miss Cal Pitchford in the backfield.

* * * *

But Richmond will be represented in the St. Mary's line by Adam Weisgerber.

* * * *

And we do hope the sandwiches at Kezar Stadium this year are as good as they were last season.

* * * *

Which all reminds us that last year following one of the Kezar Stadium games, Harry Smith came out in his sheet, crying to high heavens because he didn't get any sandwiches.

* * * *

Let's hope that Joe Hickey takes a gentle hint this season and has more sandwiches on hand.

* * * *

And less sugar in the coffee, please.

* * * *

But one can't get everything, can one?

MAN'S PHOTO IDENTIFIED BY FRIEND

NAPA, Sept. 20.—UP—A man going under the name of "Harold Simpson," who is being sought by authorities here in connection with asserted statutory offenses against an 11 year old girl, was today believed to be Everett Frank Lindsay, long-sought Seattle wife murderer, and also sought for the slaying of Mike Whelan, a farm laborer, at Kalama, Wash., in 1921.

First intimation that Simpson was Lindsay was received when L. A. Gorman, a worker on the same ranch on which Simpson was employed was arrested on suspicion of aiding Simpson in the passing of the bad checks.

While being questioned at the police station, Gorman saw a police circular with a photograph of Lindsay, giving details of the Seattle crime for which he was wanted.

Saw Picture

"That's Simpson," Gorman cried dramatically pointing to the picture on the wall.

Gorman has been released after questioning.

Gorman told police that Simpson had gained the friendship and confidence of the parents of the little girl he kidnaped, and so won permission to take her to San Francisco with him.

No Doubt

Sheriff J. P. Stecker of Napa county, stated that there was no doubt that "Simpson," a man about forty-eight years of age, was Lindsay.

Simpson recently took the 11 year old daughter of a prominent local rancher on a trip to San Francisco, where he was to have placed her in school.

Arriving at San Francisco, 40 miles south of here, instead of leaving the child at the school, he continued with her to Los Angeles, and after ill-treating her, placed her on a train for San Francisco.

Name Withheld

The child, whose name authorities are withholding, returned to her home today, and told of her abuse at the hands of the wanted man.

A detailed description of Lindsay was sent to Los Angeles, and Sheriff Stecker was confident that Lindsay would be quickly found and arrested.

Lindsay, after beating his wife to death, came to California in May and there abandoned his foster-daughter, Pearl, age 12.

TWO INJURED IN MOTORCYCLE CRASHES HERE

Two persons were injured in motorcycle accidents yesterday, one seriously.

Victor Christensen, 716 Tenth street, was severely hurt when he swerved his cycle at Eighth street and Ripley avenue to keep from colliding with another car, and was thrown from his machine.

He was in a dazed condition last night, and was unable to give police a clear story of what had happened.

The name of the driver of the car was not learned.

The second person to be injured by a motorcycle was Lee D. Windrem, 906 Macdonald avenue, a local attorney.

Windrem was walking across Macdonald avenue at Ninth street when the accident occurred.

According to police reports, he was struk by a motorcycle driven by R. Fredricks, 724 Eighth street.

Windrem refused medical attention.

The third store, which will be built at Cutting boulevard and Fifteenth street for A. S. Whiteside, will also be a grocery store and will be constructed in a Spanish style.

Lipton Issues Challenge To U. S.

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 20.—UP—Perhaps with the hope that fortune will favor him at home, Sir Thomas Lipton has invited Harold S. Vanderbilt, skipper of the successful Americas cup defender Enterprise to sail his sloop against Shamrock V on British waters next spring for a cup offered by King George of England.

Sir Thomas made this known today to a committee of citizens, army and navy officers, and members of the "400 who boarded his yacht Erin to honor him and the crews of Enterprise and Shamrock V.

Sir Thomas also said he hoped to race off Newport again. In view of his recent statement to the United Press that he never would challenge for the Americas cup, it was thought an informal race and not one for the famous International trophy was meant.

Shamrock V is being fitted with a jury rig, an ocean rig, an ocean-crossing mast, and canvas preparatory to being taken back to England. Lipton plans to leave here on Erin tomorrow for New York, where he will remain on business for several weeks.

FELON IN ESCAPE TRY

WOODLAND, Sept. 20—A former convict facing trial on four statutory offences, was captured by police today after a daring escape attempt through the streets of Woodland, during which he terrized pedestrians by waving an open razor.

The convict, Alton H. Vaile, escaped from Deputy Sheriff Forrest Monroe, by holding a smuggled razor at his throat after he had taken a sanity examination, under his plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity."

A block from the hospital where he had taken the test, Vaile suddenly whipped out the razor, thrust it against Monroe's throat and ordered him to drive straight ahead.

Monroe jerked the wheel of the car, and when Vaile's attention was distracted, the deputy sheriff jumpto the ground.

The ex-convict grasped the wheel of the machine, and sped off, pursued by bullets fired by the deputy sheriff.

One bullet lodged in Vaile's wrist, another in his back, after it had ricocheted from the back of the car, and two others punctured the rear tires.

Vaile abandoned the machine and ran through the streets, brandishing the razor and terrorizing residents who stood in his way.

He was finally cornered by a group of police and citizens in a vacant lot.

NEVADA HIT BY DRY CHIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20—Prohibition Administrator William G. Walker has asked Washington for 15 prohibition agents to be assigned to four Nevada cities, charging that "next to Wisconsin, Nevada is the most wideopen state in the Union."

In explanation of his request, Walker said, "Nevada has no dry law, and I get absolutely no cooperation from state, county or municipal authorities."

"They are very neighborly," Walker added, "when one of the prohibition agents raid a Nevada saloon, the word is passed for miles around and the agent might just as well go home as try to knock over any more places that night."

"Why, District Judge George Bartlett, the divorce court jurist who was just renominated, is quoted in a recent magazine article as saying "I'm wet—damned wet." One can expect nothing else than wide open conditions where there is an attitude like that," Walker added.

Walker's statement drew a reply from Natt Penrose, captain of Nevada's state police, who said prohibition authorities had never asked him to cooperate.

Sheriff J. D. Hillhouse of Washoe county, in which Reno is located, offered the statement that, "Reno probably isn't any wetter than San Francisco."

Police Practice For Big Dance

The Richmond Police force has gone dance mad.

At least that is the opinion of passersby who have allegedly seen members of the department shaking their number tens on the floor of the station to the hot jazz numbers brought over the air by a radio, which, rumor has it, has been borrowed so that the minions of the law might practice up on forgotten steps of terpsichorean art.

Of course all this is rumor, but if the reading public does not believe it, doubting simons might take an unannounced visit to the station and surprise Inspector George Bengley, Sgts. H. C. Donnelly and Harry Livingston, or Patrolmen Allen J. Cundy, Earnest Phipps or M. W. Campbell swaying in unison to the melodious tunes of Rudy Valle's orchestra.

The reason for all this unprecedented activity? Oh yes—the annual Policemen's ball to be held at the East Shore Park Oct. 4.

THE WEATHER

Cloudy and mild Sunday; Monday fair with rising temperature.

PLAY COURSES FOR CHILDREN ARE OUTLINED

The Richmond recreation department, under the leadership of Ivan Hill, recreational director, is attempting with marked success to make the playgrounds of Richmond fore attractive to local school children.

The average increase in attendance at the local playgrounds since the beginning of the fall term has been more than 100 percent. The attendance has tripled at Woodrow Wilson school playground, it has more than doubled at the Lincoln and Peres grounds.

The school whose playground attendance has been of the highest percentage of the school's enrollment during the term will be awarded a trophy at the conclusion of the present semester.

A trophy will a'so be awarded to the room in each school that shows the best record of playground attendance.

Interest Shown

Great interest is being shown in playground activities in Richmond under the direction of the various playground directors. The grounds are always under the supervision of a director, who organizes games and directs the activities of the school children.

Midget golf courses have been constructed at two local schools for the benefit of those children not competing in other games. Ernie Barbieri, playground director at Grant school, has built a course at Grant school, while a course has been constructed at Pullman school by John Palmer.

The program outlined by the Richmond recreational department is planned to work in conjunction with the physical education activities of the regular school curriculum. Meetings of the playground directors are held every Saturday morning in Ivan Hill's offices at Lincoln school to lay plans for the coming week.

To Attend Games

The local recreational department is also working with the directors of the University of California boys' section in offering the opportunity to all schoolboys of 14 years of age and under to see seven football games in the Berkeley stadium free of charge.

Information in connection with this movement may be obtained by phoning Ivan Hill at 265 or by speaking to any of the local playground directors.

The only games to which the school boys will not be admitted free are the two between California and St. Mary's and California and Stanford.

Boys must be at the first football game to receive season tickets.

Two Women Slain In Love Tangle

VIRGINIA, Minn., Sept. 20.—UP—Love for a married woman who wanted to end their friendship was blamed today by police for the killing of Mrs. John Ahlgren, 43, and her friend, Mrs. Mabel Hoey, 37, a widow.

The bodies of the two women were found along a lonely road late yesterday by deputy sheriffs who were investigating the finding of a blood-stained car belonging to Victor Kettunen, 40.

Kettunen is sought by police for questioning since it was known that he was in love with Mrs. Ahlgren and that she had told friends she wanted to terminate their friendship.

Thursday evening, police learned, Kettunen called at the Ahlgren home and invited the two women to go for an automobile ride. According to the reconstruction of the crime by Police Chief Fred C. Witte, the man killed the two women and then tossed their bodies from his car which he abandoned later to return to Virginia. Kettunen, it was said, probably attempted escape to Canada after the affair.

LOS ANGELES POLICE ON WATCH

Police yesterday shifted the scene of the hunt for four missing Richmond girls to the southern part of the state, as the result of information received last night.

An Oakland man, whose name was not learned, reported that at an early hour Tuesday morning he saw four girls at a service station in King City.

The Oaklander reported that the four girls answered the discriptions of the four Richmond girls.

Hitch Hikers

He stated that they were attempting to hitch hike to Los Angeles, according to the story they told service station attendants.

The Oakland man declared he thought nothing of the incident until he arrived in the eastbay and saw newspaper stories of the disappearance of the girls.

He immediately notified Oakland police, who in turn called the Richmond officers.

Girls Lost

The missing girls are Edith Hasey, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George R. Hasey of 436 Thi[illegible] street; Fern Johnson, 15, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert L. Johnson, 346 South Third street; Frances Chancelet, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Chancelet, 225 Sixteenth street, and Josephine Budts, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Budts, 940 Seventh street.

The four girls were last seen together on Twenty-third street, shortly after school on Monday afternoon. Since that time, no traces have been found of them.

Radio stations have broadcasted discriptions of the girls.

The Los Angeles police have been notified, as have all authorities in southern California.

Parents of the girls were unable to attribute any cause for them to be missing.

LOCAL YOUTHS FACE CHARGES

BERKELEY, Sept. 20—Dominick Bertone 21, and Roulo Ferrani, 18, both of Richmond were today formally charged with battery and bail fixed at $500 each, following an alleged fight with Patrolman Albert Frock, head of the Berkeley Morals squad, in Albany, Thursday night.

Frock is still a patient in the Berkeley General hospital, suffering from slight concussion, sustained, police say, when he was hit on the head with a piece of rubber packing wielded by Bertone.

The youths are scheduled to appear Monday before Judge Oliver Youngs for araignment.

The Richmond youths, according to police, admitted attacking Frock in an effort to avert arrest on a speeding charge.

The fight occurred after a long chase through Berkeley and Albany, culminating on Solano and Adams street, Albany.

Burglar Sent To Juvenile Court

Pleading guilty to the perpetration of two Richmond robberies before Justice of the Peace Arthur Alstrom, David Bennets, was certified to the juvenile court yesterday.

The youth was taken to Martinez last night, and will according to police, probably be sent to the detention home.

Bennets pleaded guilty yesterday to robbing the Stribley jewelry store and the D. C. Bettencourt home, at 5353 Zara avenue, Richmond.

According to police all the loot, with the exception of some cash stolen, was recovered.

Bennets was arrested in Fort Bragg Tuesday on information sent that city, by Chief of Police Dan Cox of Richmond.

Felon Waives Trial By Jury

MARTINEZ, Sept. 20.—Thomas Martin, 38, colored county jail trusty, who escaped six weeks ago and was captured at Pocatello, Ida., will go before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie for hearing Tuesday. He has waived trial by jury.

The point at debate will be the true meaning of the word "custody." Leo Marcollo, attorney for Martin, will argue that the trusty was not in custody when working around the court house grounds, when he escaped and that no officer was in direct supervision over the prisoner. Deputy District Attorney R. L. Boyer contends that Martin was still under authority when working on the court house grounds. Two men who fled this county while serving as trustees are now in San Quentin.

Martin is the first defendant facing a felony complaint to waive a jury trial in this county.

CHANGES MADE IN BEAR LINEUP

BERKELEY, Sept. 20.— Two changes in the lineups of University of California varsity football players marked the first week of practice which closed this afternoon with a protracted session of scrimmage.

The first week of drill on the Berkeley practice field was about as intensive as the Bears have ever gone in for. Three days of signal practice were followed by three afternoons of gruelling practice, each of which was climaxed by scrimmage. This afternoon's session was the most rigorous thus far, giving Coach C. M. "Nibs" Price a clear picture of the material he can put in the field next Saturday, September 27, against Santa Clara.

The week saw "Moose" Garrity's return to his former position at fullback, although he is still listed as a halfback on the varsity roster, and will probably be used at both positions. Garrity went like a whirlwind with the second varsity, giving adequate warning to 'Rusty' Gill, varsity fullback, that he will have to battle for his place.

Bill McCutcheon, new quarterback candidate this season, may be transferred to a halfback position —or he may not. His position now seems to be that of a combination man, working where he fits in best. McCutcheon is bigger than most California quarterbacks have been and is showing marked backfield capabilities.

The first string lineup remained practically constant during the week, with Gill at fullback, Joe Hickinghotham, George Watkins, Henry Schaldach and occasionally Roy East and Ralph Seely, sharing the halfback honors. Ed Griffiths did most of the signal calling, but Ed Kirwan, another letterman, is coming along rapidly.

The most consistent linemen have been Russ Avery and "Togo" Thornton, ends; Fritz Cahn and Mal Coombs, tackles; Captain Carl Handy and Ted Beckett, guards; and Herman Eickmeyer, center. Eickmeyer, however, has his troubles personified in Frank Medanich, also a letter winner, who has his eye on the pivot position.

Local Elks To Meet S. F. Nine At Home Today

[illegible] afternoon be the scene of [illegible]nal home game of the Richmond Elks. The San Francisco Elks will furnish today's action for the Richmond lodgemen. The contest is scheduled to be played at 2:30 o'clock.

Although rather far down in this year's league, the Richmond Elks are still fighting hard, and may be relied upon to batter the San Francisco antlers severely this afternoon. The locals have previously defeated the San Francisco nine.

Next Sunday the Richmond team will travel to Alameda to meet the Alameda Elks. The season will close Oct. 3 when Richmond and Oakland tangle in a night game at the Oakland coast league ball park.

The Cowes Regatta

THE ANNUAL Cowes regatta. This event is the biggest of the season and is appreciatively looked for by all boating enthusiasts of all England.

Odd Fellows, Moitoza Fords To Meet Today

Heavy hitting is expected to be in order this afternoon on the San Pablo diamond when the Moitoza Fords and Richmond Odd Fellows tangle.

Both squads are heavy-hitting aggregations, and the far-out patches of the San Pablo lot should be well battered if the Fords and Odd Fellows show their accustomed skill with the hickory.

Whetzler of the Odd Fellows and Martin of the Fords will carry the responsibility of preventing the opposing hitters from reaching their peak in today's game.

Anthony Moitoza will do the receiving for the Fords, while Galdoni will cavort behind the home plate for the linkers.

Today's contest at San Pablo has created unparalleled enthusiasm in local baseball circles because of the high standings of both the Odd Fellows and Moitoza Fords. The Odd Fellows are the champions of the 1930 Richmond city twilight league, while the Fords have been piling up sensational wins in free lance competition this season. Both teams have suffered few defeats, and are eager to settle the mythical championship of the Richmond diamonds this afternoon.

Biggest Deer Is Bagged By Local Hunter

M. G. Ljutic, 127 Thirty-seventh street, has returned from a week's hunt in Modoc county with what is believed to be the biggest deer bagged by a Richmond hunter this season.

The animal was a mule tail and scaled 350 pounds. It was an eight pointer and the antlers, four feet in length, spread 36 inches at the top.

Ljutic reported that while on the trip they encountered a nest of rattlesnakes, one of which sunk its fangs into his heavy boots but did not penetrate the leather.

Fred Butler and A. Poladien accompanied Ljutic on the trip.

SLIP MADIGAN AT WORK ON GAELS

SAINT MARY'S COLLEGE, Sept. 20.—With the old Army game only a week away, Slip Madigan, dean of western football coaches, was polishing up the 1930 edition of the Galloping Gaels for their first appearance of the season.

Sixteen lettermen return to the fold this year, with many non-lettermen and promising recruits from last year's undefeated frosh squad anxious to upset the regulars from their berths.

In the redoubtable Blue Ghost backfield two vacancies appear. Butch Simas and Cal Pitchford, quarter and full, are no longer with the Gaels. Madigan's big problem at present is getting successors for them. He is ghosting prospective ghosts with a keen eye. So far Bob Patterson seems the likely choice for quarter, with M. Miller and Herc Fletcher from the frosh of 1929.

Bob Barrett should fill the fullback position with plenty of experience and a good record for yardage behind him. There isn't much that Barrett can't do on a football field, but even he will have to battle with a young Porterville boy, Angel Brovelli, whom Slip acclaims as one of the greatest fullback prospects he has ever seen. Joe Flores, little chunk of dynamite from San Rafael, has looked good in practice and may make it a three-cornered fight.

Vin Boyle and Bud Toscani have been flashing their old form in the first days of practice and they look improved and hardier than in 1929. Both these boys constitute the speed threat of the ghost backfield, but there are plenty of other men who will be heard from, if early season form means anything. Bob Limon, Red Scheflin, Bill Beasley, Manuel Lamb and Charley Baird, among them.

Around that 200-pounds of speed and drive, Fred Stennett, Madigan has decided to build his offense for the coming season. Considered one of the best halves in the country last season, Stennett is being boosted by Gael fans to take the all-American honors this year and maintain the old Spanish custom inaugurated by Larry Bettencourt four years ago.

With all this wealth of material, Madigan should have nothing to cry over when himself and Vince McNally present the Blue Ghosts for public inspection in the Army game. A glance at the Gael schedule, however, would make any coach anxious about the condition of his boys. High points in it are the California game, Oct. 11; Santa Clara, Nov. 2; Fordham (New York) Nov. 15 and Oregon, Nov. 27.

Cards Nearly Cinches For National Flag

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—UP—Gabby Street and his St. Louis Cardinals moved a step nearer the National league championship today by dividing a double-header with the lowly Phillies, thus gaining half a game on the Robins and Cubs, who were beaten in single engagements.

The Cardinals now lead Brooklyn and Chicago by three games with each of the teams having but six more contests to play. If the Robins and Cubs win all their remaining games, the Cards will only have to break even to tie for the flag and only win four out of six to clinch matters.

The Cardinals' task looks easy enough. The team has had enough power and drive to win 26 out of its last 31 games, and is not likely to allow two games with the Phillies and four with the Pirates to keep them out of the world series with its glory and gold, especially gold.

New York still clinging by a thread, maintained its mathematical chance by taking both ends of a double-bill from the Cincinnati Reds, 10 to 1 and 5 to 4.

The only sinister note for St. Louis in today's defeat was the fact that "Wild Bill" Hallahan, ace of the staff, was the pitcher to lose the second game. The Hallahan who lost today was a far cry from the man who bested Dazzy Vance in Brooklyn a few days ago. The Phillies made merry with his slants all afternoon, nicking him for 13 hits and a 4 to 3 victory.

The Phillies went into the fifth inning of the second game trailing 0 to 3. They picked up one run in that frame on two singles and a double. They tied the score in the sixth on Klein's double, Whitney's single, and Thevenow's two-bagger.

Benge opened the Phils' half of the ninth with a high bounder to Hallahan, and was safe when Bill tossed wild to first. Brickell sent Benge to third with a double and Thompson walked to fill the bases. Fribert then ended the game by singling, scoring Benge with the winning run.

Flint Rhem, seemingly fully recovered from his "kidnaping," pitched the first game for the Cards and allowed only seven hits as his team won, 9 to 3. The Cards clinched the game in the seventh inning with a seven-run uprising.

A five-run rally in the eighth inning enabled the Pirates to whip Brooklyn, 6 to 2. Babe Herman gave the Robins an early lead when he hit his 34th home run in the first inning. The Robins picked up another run in the seventh to lead 2 to 0. Then came the eighth.

Bob Smith allowed the Cubs sluggers only six hits as the Boston Braves won, 3 to 2. Petty started on the mound for Chicago but was chased in the third inning when Boston scored all its runs.

Fergusen Wins Lipton Trophy

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 20—UP—Harold G. Ferguson of Elsinore, Cal., won the Sir Thomas Lipton cup on the Schuylkill river this afternoon when he piloted his Blue Streak to victory in three straight heats for outboard motorboats.

CARDS DEFEAT WEST COAST ARMY

STANFORD SSTADIUM, Sept. 20.—UP—Starting slowly, in the confusion of the new Formation C, the 1930 Stanford varsity football team came through with a rush at the last to down West Coast Army today by a score of 32 to 0.

Approximately 10,000 persons watched a green young team take the field against the soldiers and stumble through the unfamiliar formation for nearly two quarters before Caddell, fullback, was sent through right guard on two power plays for the Cardinal's first score. Grey converted.

The youngsters were replaced at the half by the first-string squad and Harold Rothert made his opening bid for all-American fullback honors. The big back topped off a string of power plays down the field with a 19-yard dash around right end for a touchdown. He later converted.

On the drive preceding the score, Caglieri, Hillman and Rothert went successively for a total of 51 yards on five plays.

A few minutes later, a pass, Rothert to Albertson, netted 19 yards. Rothert plunged through right guard for 28 yards. Hillman hit right guard for 7 yards. Rothert added one. On a short pass, Rothert to Caglieri, Stanford scored its third touchdown. Rothert's placement try was blocked.

In the fourth quarter, Stanford scored again, a pass, Simpkins to Moffatt, netting the 35 yards necessary after a series of end-around, lateral pass and power plays had carried the ball to Army's 35-yard line shortly after the kickoff. Simpkins failed to convert; score, Stanford 26, Army 0.

The last score was made when Stanford recovered a fumble on Army's 20-yard line. After two unsuccessful power plays, Phil Wilson, substitute half, ran 14 yards to a touchdown.

Simpkins failed to convert.

The game ended with Army in the midst of a desperate passing game on its own 35-yard line.

C. C. COUNTY NET FINALS THIS WEEK

Wallace Bates yesterday won the right to compete in the finals of the Contra Costa county open tennis tournament by defeating George Greene 6-3 and 6-2 on the Richmond city hall courts.

As a result of yesterday's match, Bates will meet the winner of the Lloyd Budge-Stanley Almquist semi-final contest in the title match.

The second semi-finals will be played sometime this week.

Walter Honsberger and Stanley Almquist will meet the team of Blanchard and Catton next Saturday or Sunday in the final doubles match.

None of the dates for these contests can yet be definitely set, as all of the finalists will be competing in the Pacific coast tennis championships next weekend. The local officials are attempting to arrange the dates of the local finals so that they will not conflict with the Pacific coast matches.

Honsberger and Almquist are participating in the Pacific southwest tennis tournament in Los Angeles this week-end.

Locals Will Enter In Net Championships

Richmond will be represented in the Pacific Coast championship tennis tournament net Saturday and Sunday by seven local racquet wielders.

Sylvia Seawright and Helen Dunning will participate in the girls' singles.

Phil Carlin will represent Richmond in the boys' single. James Hurley and Darrow Sutton will play in the junior singles, while Carlin and Hurley will take part in the junior doubles.

Sylvia Seawright and Helen Dunning will compose the Richmond team in the junior girls' doubles competition.

Jack Murdock and Sylvia Seawright and another local team composed of Irwin Sutton and Helen Dunning will represent this city in the mixed doubles.

LEGION 11 TO PLAY NEXT SUNDAY

With only a week remaining before the first American Legion football game in Richmond this season, Claude Samples, coach of the Richmond Post team is drilling the members in plays, with the idea of having a smooth running aggregation on the field next Sunday.

Practice will be held at 9:30 this morning on the Richmond Union high school field, the first of the three remaining workouts before the game next week. Other practices will be held this week at 5 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday nights.

The game next Sunday will be with the Acorn Athletic club of Oakland, a reputed fast squad. Members of the Acorn team have been recruited from the cream of the Oakland high school teams, and a hard, fast game is anticipated.

Samples, however, is not worrying about the game next week, declaring last night that if the fellows perfect the plays they have been working on, and get into the game and fight, the outcome will be decidedly to Richmond's advantage.

At the last practice, which was held last Thursday, Samples worked out several new plays which, according to his prognostication, are going to account for large gains next week.

Dan "Hap" Bradley, manager of the local squad, has received permission from the Richmond Post of the American Legion, to purchase what new equipment is needed, and is expected to have it today.

Bradley has also lined up several other games for the team, and announced recently, that if possible, the team will have a game every Sunday during the season.

"After we have a few games at home," Bradley said, "and the team is percolating right, we will do some traveling. I have been negotiating with such teams as Fort Bragg, Sonora, and Antioch, and if the gate percentage is right, we will probably play them."

From the writer's point of view, the players, all of whom have been fighting hard for positions, are fairly evenly matched. The team this year, according to dope gleaned from the practices to date, will probably be an even running team with few luminaries.

In the line so far, Myers, Cooper and Frazier loom as the best bets. Myers has been working out at center, Frazier at guard and Cooper at end. Milne also seems to be a good choice for one of the end positions.

The backfield appears to be in good condition, with Clarke at fullback practically sure of a steady berth. Clarke is a triple threat man, although with J. MacAllister in the game, might not be called upon to do much passing.

Samples however has not yet picked his first team, but will probably do so during the week.

BILL HAINES IN FILM AT THE FOX

Metro-Goldwyn Mayer will present William Haines' latest talking comedy, "Way Out West" today at the Fox-California theater.

Report has it that considerable ingenuity was required of Fred Niblo in directing this picture inasmuch as the greater part of it was filmed in the Hopi Indian pueblo country in the vicinicty of Gallup, New Mexico, where such things as electricity, recording facilities and hotel accommodations have not yet been heard of.

Many of the Indians, who had never seen a motion picture, were prevailed upon to act as extras in order to preserve the authenticity of the atmosphere. An amusing detail in this connection is the report that members of the company were required to be extremely tactful in handing rattlesnake, while in the neighborhood of the Hopis. This was not only a safety precaution but a matter of keeping on friendly terms with the natives who are a snake-worshipping tribe and hold the rattlesnake, in particular, as a god. At regular periods during the year, the tribe holds a snake dance in which the medicine men actually wrap the reptiles about their naked bodies and apparently are never bitten.

In "Way Out West" Haines serves as the target for the jokes of a group of cowboys who are repaying him for tricking them with a honey roulette wheel while working with a circus carnival. Riotous results follow upon their attempts to teach the "dude" such tricks of the cowpuncher trade as rounding up cattle and breaking in unsaddled ponies. The Easterner's blunders reach such an absurd stage that even the cattle won't have anything to do with him, as is painfully shown in the final scenes in which a bull scornfully tosses Haines into a drinking trough.

The story is the joint work of Byron Morgan, author of "Speedway" and "The Flying Fleet" and Alfred Block who wrote the scenario for "It's A Great Life."

Also on the program is Fox talking News and a talking comedy.

WOMAN BEATEN IS NEAR DEATH

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—A victim of her supposed husband's anger, when he found her in a clandestine tete-a-tete with a friend, a woman known as Mrs. John Brown was in the emergency hospital today in a dying condition.

According to stories to police, Brown, the woman, and a friend of Brown's known only as "Tonny" were holding a party at Brown's house yesterday, which continued all day and into the night.

During the party, police reports show, Brown found Mrs. Brown and his friend in a clandestine meeting. "Tonny" according to police, ran when Brown became enraged, and Brown beat his wife until her screams brought the neighbors, who summonded police, according to authorities.

The woman was taken to the hospital where she was found to have been seriously beaten on the face, head and body. She is also believed to have sustained internal injuries.

TO JOIN NAVY

Jack Cuno, son of Mrs. Florence Cuno, manager of the Denver hotel, left for San Diego yesterday afternoon, where he will enter the navy.

Electric Group Holds Meeting At Hotel Here

Members of the Contra Costa Electrical Development league met at the Hotel Carquinez recently to discuss subjects of interest to the electrical business.

During the meeting it was planned to work out a county ordinance that will improve electrical work as well as bring about cooperation.

Among those who made talks at last night's meeting were: Mr. Brenell, Concord electrical contractor; J. R. Cravath of Richmond B. J. Ballantyne of Richmond; J. C. Stinchfield, Martinez contractor; Mr. Feeley of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and J. F. Galvin, Richmond publisher.

Christian Science Lesson Subject

"Matter" will be the subject of the lesson-sermon today in all churches of Christ, Scientist, branches of the mother church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The citations which comprise the lesson-sermon will include the following from the Bible: "For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth: and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. But be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create: for, behold, I create Jerusalem a rejoicing, and her people a joy" (Isa. 65:17, 18).

The lesson-sermon also will include the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In Revelation XXI, 1 we read: And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away. This testimony of Holy Writ sustains the fact in Science, that the heavens and earth to one human consciousness, that consciousness which God bestows are spiritual while to another, the unilluminated human mind, the vision is material. This shows unmistakably that what the human mind terms matter and spirit indicates states and stages of consciousness" (pp. 572, 573).

Out West

WILLIAM HAINES is starred in "Way Out West," which is now being shown at the Fox-California theater.

Powell Plays In Film Here

One of the most interesting and difficult roles to portray on the screen is that of the hunted man, according to William Powell, who undertook just that kind of role in his latest starring picture, "Shadow of the Law," which will show at the Fox-California theater beginning Tuesday for a two day run.

"The fugitive from justice," says Powell, "is a fear-haunted individual who lives in constant dread. The sound of a door opening or a mere footfall puts him on guard. He is furtive and wary, always expecting his past to catch up with him."

It is just this kind of an individual Powell interprets in his latest starring role. Natalie Moorhead, who played opposite him in "The Benson Murder Case," is the blonde blackmailer in the story, and Marion Shilling is the romantic sweetheart.

Also on the program is a talking comedy entitled "Night Owls."

Injuries Hit Bear Gridders

BERKELEY, Sept. 20.—UP—While the University of California football team had no game today, the practice scrimmage held between the first string and the "goofs," proved costly.

Malcom Coombs, of Healdsburg, who has been substituting for Dolph Timmerman, regular left tackle of the varsity, broke his left arm, and will be unable to play for at least six weeks.

Timmerman, by a queer coincidence, was forced from the lineup last week, because of a broken finger sustained while wrestling with Coombs.

BIRTHDAY OF H. G. WELLS TODAY

LONDON, Sept. 20.—UP—Herbert George Wells, novelist, who once said "the best thing that ever happened to me was to be born" and yet insists he has no use for life except that it provides him with raw material, will observe his 64th birthday tomorrow.

This famous writer, who has created many new worlds during his flights of fancy, maintains that "it bores me to look at things unless there is also the idea of doing something with them." His books, he says, are criticisms and incitements to change.

Although he has written and published more than 60 books, 50 of which were fiction, he is better known throughout the world for his "Outline of History" which many responsible critics claim had wider and more immediate educative influence on the public than any other work of the 20th century in any language.

Wells was born in Bromley, Kent, the son of a professional cricketer who also owned a small china shop. It was not unusual for the father to close his shop, place a sign on the door: "Will be back in an hour" and hurry away to see an exciting match.

At the age of 13, Wells was apprenticed to a draper with a view to some day assuming his father's business responsibilities.

Selling goods, however, bored him and he ran most of 13 miles home one day to announce emphatically he would not return to his job. His health was not strong and years later Wells laughingly told a friend but for this illness he probably would be behind a counter of a store that bore the name "H. G. Wells, Draper" instead of being a world famous novelist.

Later he became usher at a grammar school and came to London where he won first class honors in zoology at London university. Immediately thereafter he plunged into journalism and at the age of 31 wrote the first of his eerie books, "The Time Machine."

Even his most severe critics concede that Wells shares honors with the Frenchman Jules Verne in having that curious gift of making the wildest flights of imagination seem scientifically natural.

Ideal that form the basis of his weird tales, he says, often are contained from scientific papers which he reads avidly.

Like Knights of Old

YE OLDE KNIGHTS used to fight to protect the fair fame of the devices emblazoned on their shields. And the knight without escutcheon was looked upon askance. He had no name to protect. He could live fairly or unfairly, as his whims directed.

Modern knights of industry have devices—the advertised trade-marks of their products. They must safeguard the reputation of these trade-marks to keep them worth while.

Advertising throws a powerful light on a trade-mark. If it proves worthy, it gains popularity and confidence. If it is shown to be unworthy, it quickly fails.

So you can be sure that every consistently advertised product is good. The advertising test has proved it. The name of its maker stands behind it. The trade-mark is your warranty of satisfaction and true quality.

TAX PAYERS DISCUSS BALLOTS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 20.—The board of directors and advisory committee of California Taxpayers' association, in session yesterday at the St. Francis hotel in San Francisco, considered the propositions which will appear on the ballot at the general election in November.

The board and advisory committee endorsed the following propositions, numbered as they will appear on the ballot:

Legislative fixing of salaries, would empower the legislature to fix the salaries of the secretary of state, state controller, treasurer, attorney-general and surveyor-general, now fixed by the constitution, and would empower the legislature at its discretion to abolish the office of surveyor-general.

Toll bridges, would provide that if toll bridges be acquired by the state, county, or city and county, or municipality, they shall not be subject to exemption from taxation as government property, but shall continue to pay taxes to the county or city and county, in which they are located, during the life of their original franchise or until the owner government ceases to collect tolls thereon.

San Francisco harbor bond issue would permit a $10,000,000 bond issue, payable from harbor income, for the improvement of San Francisco harbor.

Permanent registration of voters, would make permanent the registration of voters until cancelled at the voter's request or his death, etc., or by failure to vote at the last preceding August primary or November general election, and would require re-registration of persons failing to vote before again being eligible to do so.

Huntington library and art gallery, accepts the gift to the state of the Huntington library and art gallery and exempts all property of the gift from taxation as of July 1, 1929.

Motor vehicle taxation, would provide that the legislature fix and determine a method for the collection by the motor vehicle registration department of the state of a tax in lieu of the present personal property taxes on motor vehicles and that 95 percent of the amount so collected be returned to the counties in proportion to auto registrations.

The board and advisory committee voted against the following of the propositions:

Veterans' welfare bonds, would permit the issuance of $10,000,000 in bonds.

Firemen's pension funds, would distribute state monies in the sum of one-half of the amount paid to the state in taxes by fire insurance companies, to the local communities for local firemen's pension, relief, health, life and accident insurance purposes, proportioned on the relative amounts raised by each community.

Pensions for state employer, would empower the legislature to provide a system of pensions for state employes and to change the requirements and conditions for such pensions when occasion required.

Tax exemption of hospitals, would extend the exemption provisions to take out of taxation the property of hospitals and sanitariums not organized for private profit when such property and income is used exclusively for institutional purposes, that is, when no net profit is shown from the operation of the institution.

Fish and game commission would reorganize this commission and give it legislative powers.

State administrative consolidation, would further departmentalize the executive branch of the state government by empowering the legislature to include certain constitutional offices under one of the heads now sitting in the governor's council or others which may be created later.

State tax refunds to counties, would require payments from the state treasury to counties of net losses occasioned by the withdrawal from local taxation of the operative property of public utilities under Amendment No. 1 to the state constitution, made effective in 1911, and would cover all other operative properties since constructed or acquired in those counties.

Constitutional convention, would require the governor to call a convention for the purpose of framing a new constitution for the state of California.

Bishop Cannon Will Face New Charges Soon

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 20.—UP—Dr. Coston J. Harrell, elder of the Methodist Episcopal church, South told the United Press here today that he and three other elders of the church had filed new charges against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., with Bishop William M. Ainsworth, Birmingham, Ala., chairman of the college of Bishops of the church. The nature of the charges was not disclosed.

When advised that Bishop Ainsworth at Birmingham denied any knowledge of the charges, Dr. Harrell told the United Press the complaint had been mailed only Friday afternoon and that "very probably he has not yet had time to receive it."

Dr. Harrell explained it would be a violation of the rules of the church for him or any of the other three complaining elders to disclose the nature of the charges prior to their acceptance by the college of bishops.

Under the rules of the church, however, it is mandatory upon Bishop Ainsworth that he call a board of 12 bishops to investigate the charges against Bishop Cannon. The board is empowered to suspend a bishop until the next general conference, before which he would be brought to trial.

Others who joined in the charges, Dr. Harrell said, were:

Dr. J. T. Mastin Richmond; Dr. I. P. Martin, Abingdon, Va., and Dr. Forrest J. Prettyman, Baltimore.

Together Dr. Harrell said they inquired into Bishop Cannon's activities and joined in a complaint filed with Bishop Ainsworth.

Dr. Harrell is pastor of the Monument Methodist church here. Dr. Mastin is retired and a member of the board of trustees, Virginia, Methodist orphanage.

Liquor Traffic Campaign Started

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 20.—UP—The federal government started a campaign against liquor traffic in Indianapolis today, arresting 12 city policemen on charges of conspiracy to violate the Volstead act and threatening more arrests on the same charges.

The arrests were made by United States Marshall Harry Wertz and were a sequence to investigations made by undercover agents who charged they found the city was "wide open" to liquor and vice.

42 COUNTRIES ARE LINKED BY PHONE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—UP—Forty-two nations are now linked in the rapidly growing international telephone system and prospects are that within a few years a "telephone Utopia" will be reached when all instruments of all nations are connected, according to a government study being made here.

A list of international telephone connections compiled in this study by G. Stanley Shoup of the department of commerce shows that conversation is now possible between six continents. Eighty-five per cent of the world's telephones are interconnected and seven trans-Atlantic ocean liners maintain regular service with half dozen countries.

Such countries as Germany, England and the United States are in contact with between 25 and 35 other nations. Such great distances are regularly spanned as between London and Australia the United States and Argentina, Holland and the East Indies or France and Indo-China. Equipment is being assembled to span the Pacific. American engineers are preparing to lay a trans-Atlantic telephone cable and an international telephone directory already has been published in its second edition.

"This amazing extension of international telephony during the last few years has been one of the most significant and progressive developments in the field of communications," Shoup comments.

"As late as 1922 the sum total of international telephony services consisted in the main of circuits from London to Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam, while on this side of the Atlantic, the United States was connected only with Cuba and Canada.

"We are now connected with fully 85 per cent of the telephones of the world, reaching most of the European countries, Mexico and South America. Such radio-telephone circuits are now in service between Spain and Argentina, Paris and Indo-China, London and New York, Netherlands and Java. American engineers have perfected a trans-Atlantic telephone cable which is expected to be in operation by 1932.

"This opens vast possibilities that in all probability the next few years will witness an ever greater development in this art, which will continue, no doubt, until we have reached that telephone Utopia when all telephones and all nations can be interconnected."

Shoup's compilation, which is constantly being revised as new connections are made, shows 42 nations hooked up in a web of 716 international telephone connections. The United States maintains contact with 28 countries. England is in touch wieh 35; Germany with 34; Italy 21; France 34; Spain 28; Poland 26; Czechoslovakia 29; Russia 6; Argentina 27; Mexico 20; Brazil 16 and Australia with 13.

Spain now has 25,000,000 telephones connected with three continents, whereas five years ago, it had only 25,000 telephones, connected in a radius of 400 kilometers.

One of the most unusual developments is telephony from ships according to the list compiled here. It is shown that the following ships maintain contact with numerous countries while on the high seas: Homeric, Lafayette, Leviathan, Majestic, Olympic, Europa and Bremen.

CATHOLICS TO PRAY FOR CONCLAVE

OMAHA, Sept. 20.—UP—Every Catholic in the state of Nebraska and surrounding territory is to approach the communion table Sunday morning at the request of Bishop Joseph F. Rummel of Omaha that the reception may be a sacrifice offered for success of the sixth annual Eucharistic congress which will be held in Omaha September 23 to 25. Millions of Catholics throughout the world in public demonstration and private worship also will offer prayers.

The general theme of the congress, the first to be held in 19 years, is "The Blessed Eucharist, Divine Institution, the Source and Center of Christian Life."

A civic reception at the Ak-Sar-Ben coliseum Monday night will precede the congress proper. At this reception Governor Arthur Weaver of Nebraska, Mayor Richard Metcalfe of Omaha, and other men prominent in the official and business life of Nebraska will honor Pietro Fumasoni-Biondi apostalic delegate to the United States, the fifty archbishops and bishops, 5,000 monsignori and priests, and the hundreds of minor orders of the clergy who will attend.

Features of the congress, the first laymen have been invited to attend, will be the sectional meetings for women on Tuesday and Wednesday at the Knight's of Columbus club and St. John's church, at which Rev. J. F. Moisant, C.S.V., director of the Victorian Mission band, Chicago, and the Very Rev. W. H. Agnew, S.J., president of Creighton University, Omaha, will preside; the pontifical low mass for children and students at St. Cecilia's cathedral Wednesday morning celebrated by Bishop Rummel with Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, D.D., archbishop of San Francisco preaching the sermon, and the public hour of adoration for the laity held Wednesday evening in each of the city's 36 churches with a bishop or an archbishop presiding.

The Rev. Fumasoni-Biondi will open the congress at 9:30 Tuesday morning by the celebration of a solemn pontifical high mass at St. Cecilia's cathedral. Archbishop Francis J. L. Beckman of Dubuque will preach the sermon. The first session for the clergy presided over by Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, D.D., bishop of Cleveland and protector of the Priests' Eucharistic league will be held Tuesday. Papers will be read by Rt. Rev. Charles D. White, D. D., bishop of Spokane, and Rt. Rev. Mons. Humphrey Moynihan, D. D., rector of St. Paul seminary, St. Paul, Minn., with themes bearing on the "Eucharist as the Center of Divine Worship."

The peak of interest during the congress will be reached on Wednesday evening when 50,000 laymen will assemble in the Creighton stadium for a huge mass meeting.

KILLING OF DRY AGENTS HELD GRIM MENACE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—UP—Increased killing of prohibition agents by gangsters confronted federal prohibition authorities tonight as the latest grim menace in their enforcement activities.

Prohibition Director Amos W. Woodcock, stirred by the killing of an agent in a raid on an Elizabeth, N. J., brewery last night, announced a two-fold policy to obtain speedy justice for the killings and to win greater public respect for the law. He said more agents are being killed than ever before.

"What can the government do about the increased killing of its agents?" Woodcock was asked.

Enforce Law

"First, we can enforce the law sanely and honestly and thus win greater respect for it," he replied. "Second, we can ask state authorities to vigorously prosecute the criminal responsible." Opponents of the Jones "five and ten" law saw in Woodcock's concern over increased killings of feredal agents vindication of their assertions that the drastic penalties would make hi-jackers and liquor runners desperate. It was argued violators caught red handed would shoot to kill rather than risk ten years in a penitentiary and that the law would reap a harvest of death.

Regarding the latest killing during the brewery raid at Elizabeth, Woodcock praised the agent's valor and devotion to duty in face of death which he said was indicative of a new spirit in the enforcement forces.

Ten dry agents lost their lives while making raids last year, and already in the two and a half months of this fiscal year, two more agents have been added to the death list. In the same period ten citizens were killed by dry agents, two since July 1, when enforcement was transferred to the justice department.

No Federal Law

Woodcock explained murderers of dry agents would not be tried under federal law unless the crime occurred on federal property. There is no federal law covering murder of a federal officer off government property and the maximum penalty under such circumstances under federal law would be ten years imprisonment, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

Since enactment of prohibition more than ten years ago, an aggregate of 65 federal dry agents have been slain while on duty and 154 citizens have been fatally shot by agents of the prohibition bureau.

Emphatic denial that politics now plays an important part in enforcement was dade today by Woodcock in commenting on the newspaper series by former administrator Maurice Campbell of New York.

THE WOMAN OF IT

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

The First Ten Years Are the Hardest

HERE'S the very latest scheme for loosening the bonds of wedlock, and relaxing the strain of domesticity—
The plan was presented only the other day at the Lambeth Conference in London,
By the Church of the Universal Design;

MARGUERITE MOORS MARSHALL

And consists, in effect, of the ten-year-contract marriage.
It is argued that the vow "'till death do us part," in the present ceremony,
Is a provision which intelligent persons would not sign
In any other partnership agreement.
Therefore, it is suggested that a limited-term contract be substituted—
A contract not to exceed ten years,
With statutory provision for renewal.
Now, of course, this will seem to some persons a most revolutionary proposal,
One which will result in a general change of partners and disruption of homes—
But we don't see it that way one bit!
We may be wrong, but we're willing to wager
That if all couples, married ten years, were suddenly given the option
Of choosing new husbands and wives,
Or of continuing to choose the decade's veteran companion and fellow victim—
We're willing to wager, in that case, that the great majority of the married
Would stay married, just as they are, without one plea—
Not merely on the cynical principle of bearing the ills they have,
Rather than fleeing to others that they know not of—
But because, in the majority of cases, a man and woman who married for love
And who for ten years have lived as husband and wife,
Love each other, at the end of this time, rather better than at the beginning—
In marriage it is so often true
That the first ten years are the hardest!
Why? Because, first, they are the period
When adjustments and compromises must be made
Between two strangers (no matter how much they love, or how long they were acquainted before marriage) of opposite sex;
Because, in the second place, children are likely to arrive
During the first ten years of marriage,
And, until the parents are adjusted to family life,
There will be new frictions and misunderstandings;
A third reason why the first ten years are hardest
Is because this is usually the time when the couple are poorest—
When they are both working hard
To achieve and safeguard a decent standard of living—
When, consequently, they are often overtired and nervously overwrought.
Meanwhile, some of the strongest and finest things in married life
Take years—perhaps ten years—for development:
Such things as deep, unfaltering loyalty through thick and thin;
As the passion of tenderness, which comes to husband and wife
Through little daily contacts and services
Through illness and its anxious, affectionate care;
As, finally, a humorous understanding of each other and of life together.
A shared and reminiscent comradeship of laughter.
As Paul Géraldy says, in his new, clever, occasionally true little book, L'Amour, or The Art Of Love,
"Marriage is the only integral adventure."
Why, at the end of ten years of it,
Lots of us are just learning how to live it—
Learning such bits of lore
As that of which the wise and newlywed H. L. Mencken reminded us all the other day,
When he observed, truly, that
"The best rule for marriage is the best rule for all human relations—"Be polite."
Divorce statistics to the contrary, there really are plenty of happy American couples—
Dr. Paul Popenoe, sociologist, announced recently at Columbia,
That questionnaires answered by educated married Americans,
Disclose that from seventy-five to eighty-seven per cent of their unions are happy.
So we think that if the ten-year matrimonial contract with renewal privilege
Ever is substituted for "so long as you both do live"—
The result in most cases will be new weddings, every ten years, for the same couples—
And, gosh, do you suppose they'll think they rate wedding presents every time?

TO AN OLD PICTURE

Not strange that I should see it there today,
For long I have remembered where it lay
And passed it by, with neither look nor touch—
For, dear, I have not missed you overmuch.

But it is odd that I should stop to see
Today the face of him who, loving me,
Found I was cold. I still do not regret
I told you it was easy to forget.

Time mellows kisses to a wine
But, yielding fruit, the twisting vine
Creeps further. Dearest, we were friends—
Which is where loving starts and ends.

I told you love some day would come—
(I was the crowd, the cheers, the drum),
And you'd forget—Oh, Lord above,
How long this seeking after love?

ELEANOR EUNICE HOLLISTER.

Ever since the end, last week, of that thirty-four-hour pinochle playing endurance contest, carried on to the last fall of the cards by women members of the F. Trubee Davison Republican Club, we've been wondering if any woman in that particular organization will ever dare open her head about a husband's all-night poker game!

LOVE

Love should be a falling star,
Its splendor seen but from afar,
Whose passing leaves no pangs of woe—
It is destined to come and go.

JEAN.

"Certainly not."
"Don't you ride one anywhere?

A DISH A DAY

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

Apple desserts are popular the year 'round, but just at this season when the new apples are so flavory and can be cooked to tender fluffiness in just a few minutes they are most appealing. Baked apples, apple pies, apple dumplings, and Brown Bettys, all are distinctly American but a favorite dessert for children comes to us from Germany. There apple cake is considered just the right finishing touch for a lavish breakfast, but we who have adopted the simpler fare of fruits and cereals and simple egg dishes with toast have elected apple cake as more suitable for a luncheon dessert.

KAREN HOLLIS

Even the hurried kitchenette cook can enjoy this delicacy, for it requires but a few minutes for mixing and baking.

The recipe which I am going to give you is the basic one. German housewives vary the topping of this apple cake in innumerable ways. They add a few raisins, a bit of candied lemon peel or citron, or put strips of prunes between the apples.

GERMAN APPLE CAKE

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated lemon peel
4 tablespoons shortening
1 egg
1 cup milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar and add the grated lemon peel. Cut in the shortening with a knife, fork or pastry mixer until the shortening is thoroughly distributed. Beat the egg slightly, mix it with the milk, and add to the dry mixture, a little at a time, mixing just enough to blend the ingredients together. Do not stir or beat more than is necessary. Pour into a buttered baking pan, and cover with the following:

APPLE CAKE TOPPING

2 medium sized or 3 small apples
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Peel the apples and slice them very thin. Arrange slices on top of cake batter so that they overlap slightly. Sprinkle with lemon juice, sugar and cinnamon and dot with butter. Bake in moderate oven twenty minutes.

College—And How to Dress?

By Ann Roberts

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

YOU are to be a freshman in college this year. A new world looms ahead of you. But how to dress? There's a big question. Socks? Yes, but in some colleges they don't wear socks. In others they do. How can you find out?

Well, I will tell you. In one of the big stores in New York they have gone to the trouble of assembling an inner shop, as it were, where advice is given to freshmen just about to approach a new campus. All of the salesgirls there are graduated from Eastern colleges—they know!

If you are going to Vassar, it is one thing, if you are going to Smith it's another, Holyoke still another and any one of the other hundred or so still another. I understand that at one college, the girls roller skate madly day and night. That's a point, but how do you know before you get there, unless some one who is experienced slips you the word.

If it's a college near a city you must take evening dresses and more formal clothes for street wear. If it's out in the woods only sports clothes and informal evening things and so goes—much technique, many variations.

Since keeping expense within prescribed limits is part of every girl's budgeted work these days, I have undertaken here to outline some of the possibilities in night and lounging things from this precious little gem of a shop. Later, I shall go into daytime and evening clothes.

You must understand that I am talking now of the freshman's wardrobe only. She needs the most help, I argue, because she is new at the game, though these pajamas and things do quite as well for a girl of any age. You see, pajamas are being done, but it is often the wrong ones who accept them most heartedly for sleeping as well as lounging.

ONE OF THE NEWER SORTS OF PAJAMAS WITH WIDE TROUSERS.

THE NYJAMA WITH ITS TRIMMING OF LACE.

FLANNEL PAJAMAS LOOK THIS WAY? NICELY TAILORED.

• • •

For Sweet Sleep

OF COURSE, there are all sorts and conditions of sleeping pajamas, but the ones that are newest and still quite attractively inexpensive are: 1—Those made of sateen with quite tailored lines and finish done in the palest and prettiest of pastel tones to cast that flattering glow about the youthful personality. 2—Those made of flannel for cold and colder nights—the softest of flannel and the coziest feel. They are made quite boyishly of flannels in pastel stripes with lacings instead of buttons, clever little set-in yokes and pocket and cuff details that are unusual.

Early mornings and coolish evenings simply call loudly for this style of thing and they are all cozy and comfortable in bed, too, being prized by those who would only scoff at a flannel nightgown—remnant of past generations.

• • •

Bath Robe for Warmth

THE college girl just naturally turns to the flannel robe for a kimono sort of thing. She denounces that cotton crepe creation and well she may, for nothing can make a female look more forlorn and bedraggled than something of that vintage. The flannel ones are either plain or striped, done in the most becoming colorings and they have all the look of the campus sports clothes which girls are accustomed to wear and feel right in. They are for use pure and simple and they serve the purpose admirably.

Rooming Alone?

TO BE very luxurious in a nightgown that is wholly a picture thing, a girl needs leisure alone, but for those fortunate ones there are the new printed nighties with long, full skirts, Empire waistline, short sleeves and handmade trimmings that make them most attractive. They have all the look of the more youthful and period evening clothes and for sure enough ease and beauty they stand out by themselves.

• • •

To Lounge or Study

NOW for the lounging pajamas most fascinating of all. Have you seen the combination called Nyjama—a nighty top and very full circular pajama legs that look for all the world like a skirt at its best. The girls simply adore them and look too cute for words when they have them on. They come in the favorite nightime colors and have lacy trimmings to make them more attractive.

Then there is the pajama ensemble for lounging—a really dressed up looking affair with its quaintly cut coat, trousers with wide legs (all the legs are wide this year) and altogether a really jaunty air to them.

In these fluffier things the girls feel graceful and charming even at the business of absorbing knowledge in the wee sma' hours. And they are prettiness itself for those intimate, get-together times when negligees help a lot toward the general comfort and ease of the occasion.

Washing India Prints

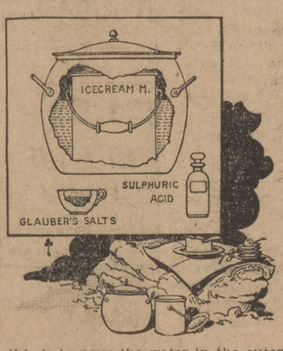
DRY cleaning cotton such as that used in India prints is useless after a time, particularly when colored motifs are on a light background. The majority of prints may be tubbed if they are washed properly and dried quickly. No patterned cotton can be subjected to hot suds. Dissolve soap powder in hot water and temper with cold until it is tepid, using a liberal supply of water. Do not soak the print but squeeze between the fingers to loosen dirt, wring gently and rinse in water of the same temperature. Then hang or shake dry so the colors will not have an opportunity to run. Dark colors such as strong reds are apt to run owing to the amount of dye used, particularly when this color is the background.

Card Table Tray

GUARANTEED to fit onto almost any card table is a three-cornered tray that may be attached or removed by a single movement of a lever. This is very useful for holding two glasses, ash trays, bridge pads. It its inexpensive and comes in three colors—red, green and black. Trays of this type come in pairs for the convenience of a foursome at bridge.

For the Home Mechanic

ICE CREAM made without ice seems impossible, you may believe. Why, it is preposterous to think of such a thing! Yet any one can do it; not only at home but deep in the wilds of forest or mountain range anywhere, in fact, if one has a couple of kettles, ordinary drinking water cream, eggs, flavoring extracts, sulphuric acid and Glauber salts. It requires only twelve ounces of acid and a pound of salts to represent the ice necessary to freeze eight or more ice cream mixtures into eight or more cakes of delicious cream.



What a boon this is to auto or motorboat tourists. All that is required on leaving home is sugar, flavoring extracts, acid, salts and kettles—cream, eggs and water are accessories that may be otherwise obtained, usually in the vicinity of the camp. If one wishes to provide against failure en route of cream and eggs, there are powdered ice cream and ices that may be purchased for the starting away outfit.

The freezing mixture consists of two quarts of water, one-half to one ounce of acid and one-half cup of salts. This should freeze a two-quart pail of ice cream mixture. Care should always be taken to prevent the freezing mixture from getting into the ice cream mixture. A good way to do this is to pour the water in the outer kettle; then place the covered pail of cream mixture in the water to see that it does not rise too high or that the pail does not tip over sidewise. If everything is right, take out the pail and stir the acid into the water; next turn in salts and quickly put back the covered pail. The chemical formula for the mixture is 4 parts Glauber salts to three sulphuric acid of 41 per cent 23 degrees to 17.6 degrees F. An aluminum pail and a cover on the kettle will aid in freezing.

TELLING THE WORLD

By Neal O'Hara

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

(J. Herman Seidlitz today discusses the important phases of the international cup races for our readers. Mr. Seidlitz needs no introduction to the public as an expert and authority on sea racing. In thirty years of yachting, he has been hit by real estate, oil well and stock market booms. He was the first man to fly a yacht club pennant from a Ford sedan. He was the original yachtsman to use a binocular case for carrying two thermos bottles of Scotch. In addition to this unusual nautical record, J. Herman Seidlitz was the first yachtsman to pull up to a gas buoy to light his cigar in a gale. No greater authority could be secured to interpret the cup races for you. In today's smashing article, Mr. Seidlitz analyzes the best way to get to the racing course.)

HOW TO GET TO THE CUP RACES

By J. Herman Seidlitz

THE cup races will be held off Newport, R. I. This will be no great hardship to me as I have been on duty all summer at Newport as a naval observer at Bailey's Beach.

The idea of holding the races off Newport is to make the event exclusive. The regatta committee figured the common people will naturally want to see the yacht races, so they will flock to the beach at Newport. When noontime comes around, they will look about for cheap, but wholesome food. And instead of seeing rows of hot dog stands they will only find marble palaces belonging to the Vanderbilts, Astors and Goulds.

So, in order to get hot dogs, they will have to walk to Providence, R. I., or New London, Conn., and in doing that they will miss the main event. This will make the races exclusive for those fortunate people who have been invited to the Vanderbilts, Astors or Goulds for lunch.

• • •

Unless you have a steam yacht (and you can pick one up cheap these days for $1,249,000.50), the best way to get a close-up of the cup races is to buy a good pair of water wings and swim out to a point mid-way between the starting buoy and the first turn, and then float till the yachts come along.

This does not afford a full view of the thirty-mile course, but by the time the yachts get up to you the Enterprise will probably have snapped its starboard clothesline or the Yankee's cocktail shaker will have broken down or something will happen that will call the first day's races off.

• • •

You will be able to tell America's entry in the race because it will be flying a flag of distress. The idea of holding the elimination trials was to find out how many things could bust on each boat and still not have it sink!

You can identify Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V because it is painted green. Sir Thomas's own private yacht, the Erin, is also painted green. In fact, if Sir Thomas ever owned a fire truck he would probably paint that green and call it the Killarney.

Another good way to see the yacht race (provided you can swim back after seeing it the first way) is to take an afternoon nap in a hammock, wake up around 6 P. M. and buy a sporting extra and find how it came out.

THIS AND THAT

P. Barnum brought out Tom Thumb and it begins to look as if a relative of his brought out the Tom Thumb golf courses.

Borah is spending his vacation at Bath, Me., but what he needs is a haircut.

That Moran and Capone feud in Chicago will yet become as famous as the Montagues and Capulets.

Calvin Coolidge, the columnist, is still maintaining his reputation for not saying much.

Variety lists the week's best suggestion as follows:
"Maybe it would be more pleasant if Rudy Vallee's imitators sang into the big end of the megaphone."

They found a mosquito on Nantucket Island this week, but the natives claimed it had a New Jersey license plate.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."
Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

NEW PLYMOUTH ROADSTER IS ANNOUNCED

A new roadster at the new low base price has been announced by the Plymouth Motor corporation.

The new roadster bears the lowest price ever placed on a Chrysler Motors product. It has the many distinctive features exclusive with it in its price class, and the refinements and improvements of all Plymouth cars, recently announced with the presentation of the new two-door sedan.

The introduction of the new roadster brings the number of body styles offered by Plymouth up to eight. They are: Roadster, sport roadster, coupe, coupe and rumble seat, two-door sedan, four-door three-window sedan, phaeton and convertible coupe.

The new roadster is finished in Trooper Tan with beads and belt moulding in Shawnee Beige and Golden Wheat Tan striping. Wood wheels are of Shawnee Beige with the same striping.

The top is a black French grain rubber-backed double texture material and the combination of black fenders and top with the tan body adds beauty to the car. Its long, racy lines make its appearance distinctive and extremely smart.

The new body style has an overall length of 170 inches. It is powered by the famous Plymouth Silver-dome engine with a bore of 3-5/8 inches, a stroke of 4-3/4 inches and develops 48 horsepower at 28 revolutions per minute.

Distinctive features of the improved engine include a positive pump cooling system; fuel pump and fuel filter; full-pressure lubrication to all crankshaft, camshaft connecting rod bearings and timing gears. Plymouth is the only car in the lowest-price field which has hydraulic brakes.

Ample carrying space in the rear deck makes this car particularly adapted for business and commercial purposes.

The new low price is $565 on the coupe, effecting a saving of $25 over its former price, was made possible through increased production and the materialgain in month sales of Plymouth, culminating in this car ranking third in registrations in the United States in June.

"The introduction of the new roadster at such an amazing low price," said F. L. Rockelman, president and general manager of the corporation, in his statement, "and the substantial reduction on the coupe are in line with the established Plymouth policy of giving the public the immediate benefit of any improvement in design or performance and any saving brought about by increased efficiency in production methods or gain in volume of sales."

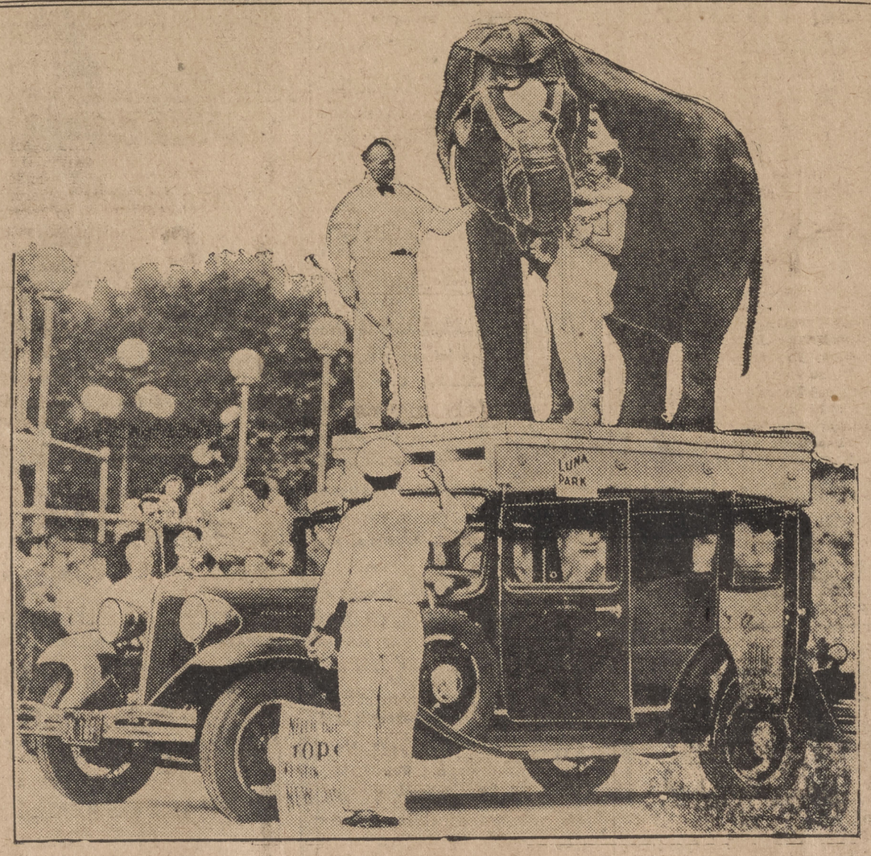
Chrysler Supports Elephant



VISITORS AT LUNA PARK, Coney Island, were given the surprise of their lives one afternoon recently, when they saw one of the largest elephants in captivity, long a favorite with park fun-seekers, taking his first automobile ride atop one of the new Chrysler eight sedans. It was possible to give the beast his first auto spin because the new Chrysler eights have all-steel bodies, the latest in modern coach construction. These bodies were designed to support thousands of pounds more than they will ever be subjected to and are considered the final word in motor car safety.

Hyde Renews Grain Demand

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—UP—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde late today renewed his demand upon the Chicago board of trade for action to stop Soviet Russia selling short in wheat as Representative Fish, Republican, New York, announced his communist propaganda investigation committee would begin inquiring into the charges next week.

After a conference with Hyde, Fish said the committee would meet in New York, Sept. 26 and 27 and in Chicago Sept. 29.

He promised to subpoena American brokers and their Russian clients.

Hyde's second demand upon the Chicago board of trade was served by telegraph after the first had brought from President John A. Bunnell, a reply which Hyde seemed to consider somewhat unsatisfactory.

TWENTY SHIPS IN DISTRESS AS GALE SWEEPS WESTERN EUROPE

LONDON, Sept. 20.—UP—A terrific gale pounded western Europe and the north Atlantic today, driving ships ashore and sending other reeling into port, badly battered. At least 20 vessels were reported in difficulty.

SOS calls streamed through the air at intervals since last night.

Three hundred passengers on the cross channel steamer Biarritz, enroute from England to France, were marooned aboard tonight after six unsuccessful attempts to put in at Boulogne, blocked by the heavy seas.

The passenger list included scores of Americans.

Cherbourg reported the liners Ausonia, Empress of Scotland, Lapland and Deutschland hours late because of the storm.

85 Mile

Vessels reaching port reported encountering a terrific storm at sea. An 85 mile wind across the treacherous English channel played havoc with shipping and caused the partial cancellation of cross channel boat and airplane service.

The French schooner Madeleine Tristan was driven ashore at Portland. The crew was saved by breeches buoy. Crippled vessels struggled into Portland harbor hourly.

All mail boats to the channel islands were held up and 2500 excursionists were detained in Jersey. Two motor fishing boats were wrecked on the rocks on the west coast of Guernsey. The storm was expected to continue another 24 hours. Saint Lazarie, France, reported that the fishing boat Mendian de L'Ocean was afire in the storm, but that the crew had been saved. The wireless station at Lorient picked up numerous SOS signals, including calls from the English ships Temple Mead and Carthners, and the Greek vessel Theodore Bulgaris. The Temple Mead later reported she did not need assistance.

SOS CALLS

Lloyds was flooded with reports of ships in distress. The Italian oil tanker Tuscany, 7012 tons of Genoa called for help four miles off Ushant, France when her steering gear became disabled. The Italian steamer Vivaldi was in distress nearby while the Jugo-Slavian vessel Dohadak called for aid 125 miles from Brest.

The tugboat Auroch was sent out from Brest to assist the Tuscan and Vivaldi but was forced back by the mountainous seas. The Auroch managed to get within a mile of the Vivaldi but could come no closer. A second and third rescue attempt was made but failed and the tug made for port.

The Tuscani drifted helplessly toward the rocks. The rescue boat Turbillon was ordered from St. Nazarre to the assistance of the Dohadak.

The British steamer Umberleigh went ashore on White Patch, in Plymouth sound. A Plymouth lifeboat rescued her crew.

The British steamer Chesham also reported herself in distress.

Steamer Wrecked

The steam drifter Champion was wrecked on the rocks near Lossiemouth harbor, Scotland. The crew was pulled through the seas to safety by ropes.

A small sailing boat got in distress off Dover and was brought in by a motor boat. All pleasure boats in Barmouth harbor were sunk.

The storm also did tremendous damage ashore and raged over all the British Isles.

Damage in the Isle of Man was estimated at $2,500,000. Crops were ruined in Scotland and Wales. Rivers were overflowing. The Thames was above summer level around Windsor. The rivers Conway, Dee, Clyde and Severn were overflowing.

Houses Flooded

In Wales, houses were flooded at Pontypool, Blaenhaven, Abersychan and Lower Garmouth. Furniture was washed out to sea.

At Bournemouth hundreds of beach huts and tents were destroyed. The wooden motor pier at Swanage was smashed by the waves. Gales prevailed everywhere in Britain, reaching 70 miles an hour at Plymouth.

Rain in Dublin flooded the basements of stores and houses.

Houses collapsed in the gale at Netherton, in Worchestershire. At Folkestone trees were uprooted and roofs blown away.

Two freight trains collided near Reading in a blinding rainstorm.

Traffic was blocked between stations but no one was injured.

At times the gale appeared to be diminishing over the channel, but continued to rage along the coasts.

Communications were hampered by the destruction of wires both in England and France.

200 Endangered In Ferry Crash

SAUSALITO, Sept. 20.—Helpless with a broken main shaft, the Northwestern Pacific ferry Cazadero crashed into the slip piling at the terminus here as it was preparing to dock, and endangered the lives of 200 passengers. No one was injured.

The ferry crashed into the protective dolphin through the abrupt stop and frightened and shook up the passengers.

According to E. A. Creighton, engineer, the accident occurred when the drive shaft broke and the vessel could not be slowed by the usual backwater braking.

STYLE DESIGN OF CHRYSLER TOLD

What are the logical steps in building a motor car from its first conception in the mind to the finished product?

Building a motor car is the work of many groups of skilled engineers, artists, production men, chemists and experts in various kinds of work. It is a task of many months of research, experiment and test. Improvements must be made when consistent with fundamental principles but nothing must be taken for granted, according to Harry Curry, local Chrysler dealer.

In the engineering laboratories of Chrysler Motors, an entirely new line of cars is discussed first around a conference table by department heads of engineering divisions. One of the first points they consider is the approximate weight of the new cars from this decision is next figured the approximate size of an engine to power this much weight. Then comes the decision as to transmission, clutch and rear axle that must be designed to take care of such an engine at this approximate car weight.

Of course all these points are the result of a series of conferences. Data on past policies is furnished by the research department from information gathered from a background of twenty years of experience. Engineers stress certain weaknesses that must be overcome, and cite instances where improvements can be made. Finally, preliminary blue prints and specifications are drafted and within three weeks three or four experimental engines, transmissions, clutches and rear axles have been built. One or two engines go on dynamometer tests immediately in the engineering building. Transmissions and axles also are tested.

Completely assembled units also go into chassis equipped with old bodies of desired weight and are placed on road tests throughout the country. It is on these tests, in charge of expert experimental engineers, that first weaknesses are noted. They are tested on steep mountains, in hot deserts and on open highways for speed. Cooling data is collected and changes made. Carburetion is checked. Acceleration, speed, power, smoothness and a host of other things are noted. Engineers make recommendations to the home office by telephone and telegraph and new parts are sent immediately to them in the field. Meanwhile exhaustive tests are being carried out by various machines and devices in the engineering laboratories.

While this is going on, body and chassis engineers have gotten together and worked to a unified design of these important items. The body has been sketched by artists and enlarged on a blackboard to show the proportions of the proposed body styles. Many are made in colors and show individual details of exterior and interior. It is at this point that the motif of the car is born.

In a short time, a wooden dummy body has been designed with fenders and splash shields, moldings and metalware. This body projects the original drawing into three dimensions and it is here that final changes are made. The timber is shaped sa that it can be altered in detail and repainted within a few minutes. Once final approval is given this model, a hand-built metal model is designed with all dimensions and weights carefully carried out.

Into this model goes the proposed engine, transmission and axle where another series of road tests are carried out. When final tests are passed the various body styles are ready to go into production, stamped off dies being made from the approved hand-made metal body.

The production of mechanical parts keeps pace with body designs so first production units follow within a short time. Here again Chrysler engineers take the cars to the mountains of Pennsylvania where final tests are made before quantity production is ordered.

During all this time, each engineering division is responsible for the development of their own parts. The entire organization works with systematic precision, so there are no delays on developing and testing the finished whole.

And when the signal "go" is given on the final assembly line, the engineers have completed their task and have passed the job along to the production, sales and advertising divisions.

Plane Touring Party Fined For Rum Cargo

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Sept. 20.—UP—Dry and $100 poorer, the fliers in the Ford national reliability tour left Great Falls for Sheridan, Wyo., today, assured by customs officials that the incident of the sherry wine, the ale and the whiskey taken from their planes yesterdaf was closed.

The names of all the members of the party who brought Canadian liquor with them from Lethbridge, Alberta, will not be known. Customs officials told only on those who tried to hide the contraband and were fined. Others who confessed to having liquor lost it but were shielded.

Capt. Frank Hawks, transcontinental flier, had to give customs officials a $30 fine and watch six quarts of sherry wine soak into the ground. Alvin Arnold and R. L. Hutchinson lost 30 bottles of ale and paid a $60 penalty. Tom Colby, official weather observer on the tour, had to pay $10 and yield two quarts of whisky.

Two Canadian passengers in one of the planes declared an unannounced amount of liquor upon landing. They were not fined, but their declaration caused customs officials to suspect that other planes might not be entirely dry, and started the search that upset the tour party.

Col. Charles L. Sheridan, collector of customs, took note of reports that before the fliers left Lethbridge, they had received assurance that anybody who wanted to take a few nips along would not be molested on landing at Great Falls.

"We had no idea that liquor was to be found aboard the planes and pursued the examination only as a matter of routine," he said. "The confiscation of the liquor and the payment of the fines ended the matter as far as the government is concerned."

The pollity of the touring party was not lessened when the planes left for Sheridan, today. There was much chaffing about the incident.

From Sheridan, a noon stop, the fliers were to proceed to Casper, Wyo., to spend the night.

City Wins Fight On Oil Well Drilling

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 20.-UP—The city government won the right today to regulate oil well drilling anywhere within the municipal limits when Federal Judge Edgar S. Vaught dismissed the Cromwell-Franklin Oil company's suit for permission to drill on the 160 acre tract of W. F. Harn, south of the capitol building.

The decision upheld validity of the city zoning ordinance claiming to permit drilling in one section of the city and to prohibit it in another was not discrimination. Oil company attorneys will appeal the decision.

SAVANT BACK FROM TOUR OF EUROPE

BERKELEY, Sept. 20.—After a collection trip which took him through some 15 countries and islands in Europe and Africa, Prof. E. B. Babcock of the division of genetics, University of California, has returned to Berkeley. He spent the summer in an endeavor to obtain seeds or roots of additional species of Crepis for use in some of the investigations of the division, and was generally successful.

His itinerary began with England and included Maderia, North Africa as far west as Tunis, Sicily, Crete, Greece, Corsica and Majorca, as well as Spain and France. New material was obtained in every island and nearly every country visited. This was possible, however, only by special excursions, often involving mountain climbing and sometimes sleeping in peasants' homes, shepherds' huts or an abandoned monastery on a mountain top.

Has Unique Ride

In Madeiria Professor Babcock had the unique experience of climbing mountains while riding in a hammock slung on a pole supported on the shoulders of two carriers. Various experiences of this sort, he said, added to the interest of the expedition. In Crete he was so fortunate as to have as a companion on excursions to Moune Volakia, Imbros Gorge and other rather inaccessible regions, Prof. Bierens de Haan, zoologist of the University of Amsterdam.

Returning to England in August, Professor Babcock attended the fifth international botanical congress at the University of Cambridge, where he contributed a paper in the symposium on "The Species-Concept." As a result of this discussion he believes that real progress was made toward the general recognition among biologists of the importance of cyclo-genetic evidence in connection with studies of taxonomy, phylogeny and evolution.

The congress as a whole, he says, was a great success, being largely attended in all sections. A popular and valuable feature of the sectional work consisted of demonstrations by individual members of the congress. These, he says, were especially numerous and valuable in the section of genetics and cytology. At the close of the congress, Professor Babcock returned directly to Berkeley.
